

SOVIET MAKES PROPOSAL

One-Year Disarmament "Truce" Is Urged By Russia

Diplomats See Russian Move As Propaganda

Realize However That Masses In Some Countries May Be Impressed

RUSSIAN SPEECH WAS ATTACK ON U. N.

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(European Editor, N.Y. Times)

PARIS, Sept. 25.—Western diplomats are in general agreement today that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's proposal for arms reduction was largely a clever propaganda move.

Many of them did not rule out the possibility that the Russian deputy foreign minister's speech may impress the masses of some countries.

A typical U. S. comment was made by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who told International News Service: "It will be tragic if the people of the world are misled by this move. It is extremely distressing to see such complete lack of understanding of the problem, especially in respect to atomic control."

"If you are going to have really effective control of atomic energy, it must be at the source, and the Soviets are refusing this, despite all Vishinsky may say."

Must Reduce Causes
U. S. Secretary of State Marshall declined to comment, but Benjamin Cohen, adviser to the American delegation, said:

"There's not much sense in reducing armaments until you reduce the causes for them. That's the root of the problem."

Dewey To Make Second Major Speech Tonight

Subject Of Address To Be Made In San Francisco Closely Guarded

By WILLIAM THIES
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

EN ROUTE WITH GOV. DEWEY, Sept. 25.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's campaign special rolled north toward San Francisco today for his second major speech—its subject a closely kept secret—in the home state of his GOP runningmate.

The Republican Presidential candidate came closer than at any point in his nationwide trip to trading blows with President Truman when he bluntly accused the Democratic administration of giving "aid and comfort" to the communists.

Before a crowd of 25,000 Dewey's charge was made before a cheering crowd of more than 25,000 in Los Angeles' Hollywood Bowl last night after a full day of speeches bidding for California's 25 electoral votes.

For the first time on his 8,000-mile trip, which began last Sunday at Albany, the GOP nominee's closest aides said they could give no inkling of what Dewey would talk about tonight in San Francisco.

Dewey was lustily welcomed when, after a one and a half hour program of Hollywood entertain-

Elderly Man Is Killed By Auto

Charles Anderson, Of 539 Sampson Street, Dies En Route To Hospital

STRUCK BY CAR ON GRANT STREET

Charles Anderson, aged 78 years, of 539 Sampson street, was fatally injured at 10:45 o'clock, Friday evening, when struck by an auto driven by Raymond Paglialong, aged 18 years, of 412 Division street, as he attempted to cross through traffic near the Lawrence Ice and Storage company, on West Grant street. Anderson was removed to the Jameson Memorial hospital in an ambulance, where he was pronounced dead on arrival. He had suffered a compound fracture of the skull, and fractures of both bones of the right leg below the knee.

Trice To Cross In Traffic

According to the investigation conducted by Officers Pete Hillers and Harry Reese, and Deputy Coroner Deane E. Smith, Mr. Anderson had attempted to cross through a line of traffic from the north to the south side of the street, and ran directly in front of Paglialong's car. The latter stated that he failed to see Mr. Anderson until it was too late to avoid striking him. He was struck by the right front side of the auto and knocked to the street, and (Continued on Page Two)

Twenty Hurt In Outbreak In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 25.—(INS)—Riotous anti-United States demonstrations, inflamed by Argentine President Juan D. Peron, left at least 20 persons injured in Buenos Aires today.

Peron, in a violent speech from the balcony of the Argentine white house, charged that "foreign capitalist interests" ordered his assassination.

Then he identified John F. Griffith, former cultural attaché of the U. S. Embassy in Argentina, as the alleged instigator of a plot to kill him and his wife.

Some 20,000 supporters, called out on a 14-hour general strike for

Five U. S. Flyers Found In Canada

Located After Being Missing For 13 Days; None Seriously Injured

THE PAS, Man., Sept. 25.—(INS)—An RCAF Canoe flying boat was poised today on Highrock lake to bring five flyers out of the Canadian wilds where their U. S. naval plane crashed 13 days ago.

The flying boat landed on the lake last night a short time after the crew of an RCAF Lancaster spotted the men hacking their way through the brush 25 miles away.

Discovery of the missing flyers climaxed one of Canada's largest and most intensive searches. More than 30 Canadian and American planes had been thrown into the search after the plane disappeared en route between Churchill and The Pas.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(INS)—The Navy said early today that it has "confirmed reports from Ottawa" that one of the five naval flyers who crashed in the Canadian wilds was seriously injured.

Violent Attack On U. S. Also Made Before UN Session

Vishinsky's Proposals Take United Nations Entirely By Surprise

SEE PROPAGANDA MOVE BY SOVIET

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Sept. 25.—Soviet Russia called for a one-year disarmament "truce" today and accused the United States of planning an atomic war against her.

In a violent attack against leading American political and military figures, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky placed the Soviet "peace or war" thesis before the United Nations General Assembly in Paris in the following terms:

1.—A one-third reduction during the current year of all present land, naval and air forces of the major powers.

2.—Prohibition of atomic weapons for aggressive use.

3.—Establishment of an international control force by the U. N. Security Council to ensure partial disarmament and prohibition of the atomic bomb as a weapon of offense.

Vishinsky's proposal took the United Nations, meeting in the lavish Palais de Chaillot along the banks of the River Seine, entirely by surprise.

Former Soviet Propaganda Democratic delegates to the session was Vishinsky had chosen a (Continued on Page Two)

Declare Soviet Has Blocked All Atomic Control

PARIS, Sept. 25.—(INS)—The disarmament proposals placed before the United Nations by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky recalled to observers today that Russia herself has blocked all attempts to achieve atomic bomb control.

The record is a constant series of veto defeats by Soviet Russia of American, British and French proposals to place the dreaded weapon on a controlled basis.

On May 17, the atomic energy committee, meeting for the 22nd time in the space of 23 months, voted to suspend all work on the control problem until Russia relaxes opposition to plans favored by the majority.

Soviet Reservations

The Soviet reservations were specified by Soviet representative Andrei Gromyko on the following basis:

1.—Prior destruction of existing atomic weapons.

2.—Inspection by U. N. security council investigation bodies must be preceded by prior notice.

Ten days previously, the United States, Britain and France had proposed that the commission abandon its efforts and turned in a report blaming Russia for the impasse.

This report said that the commission efforts must wait upon a change of heart by the Soviets toward cooperation in "broader fields of policy."

Pa Newc Observes

Mrs. I. W. Miller of 319 Sampson street states that she has several apple trees which have burst into bloom this fall. One sweet apple tree has both blossoms and small apples on it at the present time.

With the falling leaves which are coming down in greater numbers, car drivers should use more caution in driving about the city. Especially during wet weather, should care be taken not to apply the brakes too quickly.

With the firing of numerous furnaces and heating plants about the district, the city is receiving its annual avalanche of soot and dirt. Furnace pipes in homes should be cleaned out before the furnace is fired too heavily.

SEPTEMBER 26 - OCTOBER 3

Numerous of the state highway signs pointing to adjacent cities in this area are being knocked down either by strong arm youths or by tall trucks Pa Newc observes. The latest sign to come down is one at the intersection of Croton avenue and East Washington street. It is lying on the ground.

Thanks to the Pennsylvania department of highways, North Jefferson street hill, Grant to Wallace, has been resurfaced, much to the pleasure of motorists. Work was completed yesterday when a top coat was applied. The work was done by the maintenance crew of the local department of highways.

Truman Heads Eastward On Campaign Tour

Continues To Make Blistering Charges Against Congress And Republicans

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, Sept. 25.—President Truman's campaign train moved eastward through the southwest today with the chief executive ready to fire more ammunition at his Republican opponents in the November election.

The presidential train, traveling through Arizona, stopped at Phoenix last night. Mr. Truman told a crowd at the railway station that the Republicans "want to move the capital from Washington back to Wall Street."

The president declared:

"The Republicans are still saving up a lot of special interest measures hoping that in the next congress there won't be too many Democrats to protect the people."

"Want To Move Capital"

"Now the Republicans want to turn around and start backward. They want to move the capital from Washington back to Wall Street."

"They have been working at it in the congress for the last two years and they're now trying to capture the executive branch of the government so they can complete the job."

"When it comes to making promises, they come right along saying, 'me, too.'"

"But when it comes to making good on their promises, that's something else."

Mr. Truman plugged away at his earlier statements to the effect that the Republican congress failed to provide for western reclamation and irrigation projects financially.

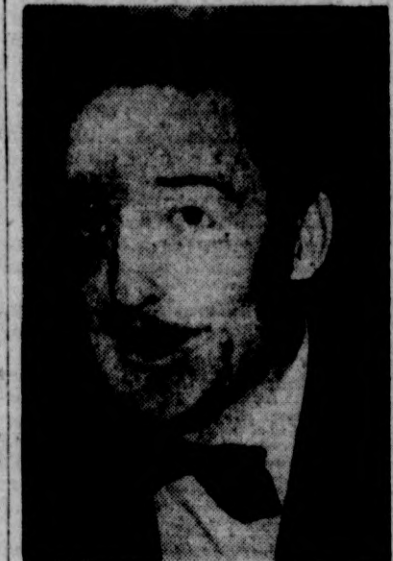

Completes California

The president completed the important California phase of his tour yesterday with speeches at San Diego and other stops during which he called the Republicans a group of "saboteurs."

At Oceanside near San Diego he charged that "this Republican Eightieth Congress has done everything it can to sabotage the state."

Gunfire Fails To Halt Airlift

Anglo-American Officials Protest Gunfire In Airlift Corridor

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—(INS)—The Anglo-American airlift continued to supply blocked Berlin today, in defiance of Soviet attempts to seal the airway with gunfire.

Soviet planes hurled shells into the corridor late yesterday but failed to hit any Allied aircraft.

Only one American pilot—and none of the British fliers—sighted actual shooting. The American said he saw a Soviet plane's gunners fire at a ground target.

Protests Are Made

Anglo-American officials promptly handed written protests to the Russians, through the four-power air safety center. The protests were summarily rejected.

Planes Fly Much Faster Than Sound

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(INS)—Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington revealed today a U. S. air force plane has flown "hundreds of miles faster than sound" which is 760 miles per hour at sea level.

Symington's revelation, made in an address to the Air Force Association in New York, indicated the plane, believed the X-1, has flown anywhere from 860 to upwards of 1,000 per hour.

Referring to air force accomplishments the past year Symington said:

"First was the attainment of autonomy—the U. S. air force—one year old last week. The dream of Billy Mitchell has come true."

"Second—breaking the sonic wall, crossing the barrier of sound; a man in an airplane flying hundreds of miles faster than the speed of sound, which is 760 miles per hour at sea level."

"Some believe that the achievement at Muroc last October marked the greatest day in the history of aviation since Kitty Hawk."

The X-1, a rocket ship, was officially announced to have crossed the sonic barrier in a test at Muroc Dry Lake, California. Its exact speed has not been disclosed.

The demonstrators, responded by running amok through the streets of the city until troops restored order.

The rioters set bonfires, hurled stones, and carrying nooses and gallows of all sizes, attempted at one point to lynch an unidentified bystander.

Observers interpreted the day's events, culmination of bitter political feud between Peron and his opponents, as a last-minute attempt to whip up support for Peron in the coming elections.

was run over by the wheels before Pagliarone was able to bring his car to a stop, he stated.

Pagliarone stated that he had been attending the young people's meeting at the First Pentecostal church, and after the meeting had been concluded, that he and a group of other young people had gone for a ride and had intended to get something to eat. They had driven out towards west State street, but noticing the heavy traffic, apparently going home from the football game, decided to return towards the city.

Others in Car

Other occupants of the car were John Sarbo, of 1931 Pennsylvania avenue; Sue and Nancy Aversio, of 1422 Croton avenue; Viola Lombardo, of 524 N. Liberty street; Gloria Callahan, of 742 Croton avenue; and Thelma Ludvici, of 412 Electric street.

Coroner Charles E. Allen and police are conducting a further investigation into the circumstances today.

Mr. Anderson, it is stated, roomed at the home of C. V. Rice, at the Sampson street address.

The body was removed to the DeCarbo funeral home to be prepared for burial.

Mr. Anderson's wife died about a year ago, it is stated. He is survived by two granddaughters, Mrs. Mildred Thomas, of Neshaunock avenue, and Mrs. Mabel Miles, of countyline street; and a niece, Mrs. Mary Duncan, of Castletown.

ties would be held between Bueckberg, in the British zone, and Berlin.

The announcement said the fire would be concentrated over Döberitz, 74 miles west of the encircled former capital.

But apparently, the Red Army gunners did not go through with the scheduled exercises, which were to begin at 8 a. m. and end at 3 p. m.

The American note to the Soviets also protested a buzzing incident in the air routes last Tuesday. The U. S. officials charged that two Soviet Yak fighter planes flew "dangerously close" to an American airliner in the Bueckberg-Berlin corridor.

Town Races". In this number the majorettes let themselves go in a cakewalk reminiscent of a frolic on the levee.

Finally the band formed a huge "N. C." and played the Sesquicentennial March. Esther Stone and Rose Linarella, two of the majorettes, did a double twirling number that was clever, and for color back of them was the color guard of the band and a Pennsylvania state flag.

Another portable podium was added to the one recently presented by the Universal Sanitary Manufacturing company. It seems portable podiums are like guests at a ball, they come better in pairs, and the Universal added the second one Friday night.

The band added to the laurels it is accumulating this year. The marching was as military as an oldtime top sergeant, the formations were made quickly and precisely, and the playing was a little bit of all right.

The Youngstown East team brought its band, under the direction of John Raz, a former New Castle man. The two bands joined for the opening, with Mr. Raz directing the "Star Spangled Banner".

Declares U. S. Will Provide Military Aid If Necessary

Congressman Says European Demands To Get Military As Well As Economic Aid

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(INS)—Senate Minority Whip Lucas (D-Ill.), predicted today that United States will back European demands for military as well as economic aid if necessary.

Lucas, back from a tour of Europe, said he would "not stand in the way" of military aid although he is "exasperated" over the slowness with which western European countries are moving toward a customs and currency exchange union.

He said "The English are dragging their feet."

The Illinois Democrat declared that in his opinion "we are not going to have war with Russia."

Lucas said the "Truman doctrine" in Greece and the Marshall Plan have served to avert war. He declared:

"It is admitted by every sound leader that without the Truman doctrine Greece would be in the hands of the Communists, and they would be knocking at Turkey's door."

Pennsylvania Has 608,378 Registered Under Draft Law

Report 137,005 Single, Non-Veterans, Subject To Induction Are Registered

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25.—(INS)—Pennsylvania has 137,005 single, non-veterans subject to induction calls under the peacetime draft among the 608,378 men who registered the 18 through 25 age bracket.

State Selective Service Director Henry M. Gross said some may be disqualified for physical and other reasons.

The figures were tabulated as of September 20, two days after the registration deadline, and were not complete, Gross said.

He said undoubtedly "some men" in the registration age group had failed to sign up. The state possibly had not received all exchange registration cards of Pennsylvanians working in other states, he added.

The first call comes in November and Pennsylvania will contribute 630 men to the national call for 10,000 soldiers, Gross said. The December quota is 15,000 men, but Pennsylvania's share has not been determined, he added.

McNeill tersely described Vishinsky's address as "cold cabbage."

A different tack was taken by Cuban Delegate Guillermo Belt who said he thought the west should call Russia's bluff by agreeing to the proposed one-third armaments reduction.

Then, said Belt, the U. N. could set up a watch-dog committee to oversee all phases of Soviet armament and war potential.

Another Latin-American delegate, Brazil's representative Raul Fernandes termed the Vishinsky proposal "mere propaganda."

The opinion was prevalent in some western quarters that Vishinsky's challenge may prove embarrassing to the big western powers.

It was pointed out that the big powers probably will have to reject the move, because of Russia's anticipated rejection of supervision within the USSR.

The Kremlin then would be able to claim that this constituted confirmation of Moscow's stand that the U. S. seeks war while Russia is striving for peace.

A member of the British delegation gloomily commented: "This puts us back where we were two years ago. Nothing has changed and there is little hope for any agreement on atomic energy."

Some American observers seemed disappointed in that the Vishinsky address did not reflect the moderate tone that Marshall had sought to establish at the current U. N. session.

They pointed out that the Russian diplomat's speech was actually a point-by-point attack on the U. N., without a single favorable comment.

Guillermo Belt of Cuba, one of the most seasoned of U. N. delegates said:

"Reduction of armaments would be welcomed by everybody. But there cannot be reduction of regulation of atomic energy without most careful inspection."

Russia Refuses Inspection

"So far Russia has refused inspection of her own armaments. If she now is ready to accept real and constant inspection, we should accept this proposal."

Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France told international news service:

"It is an interesting speech, but the disarmament proposal is merely relative."

"One must take into account that an amount of post-war disarmament already has been carried out in almost every country."

Urdaneta Arbelaez of Colombia described the Vishinsky speech as "discouraging" and condemned its aggressive tone. He said:

"If Russia is willing to agree upon genuine inspection of Soviet armaments as part of the Soviet proposal it might be the beginning of a real understanding."

"But we must know first of all if the country which is proposing an international control body is ready to accept effective inspection."

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

One of the leading members of Britain's Labor party, a former coalition minister who commands respect on all sides, took up the role of vacationing Winston Churchill as champion of full British preparedness for war.

He is the Rt. Hon. Albert Victor Alexander, formerly first lord of the admiralty and now minister of defense, who outlined before the House of Commons a program of military expansion designed to ensure that London never will be "blitzed" again.

The pressure in Britain for increases in armament and a vast step-up in recruitment has been in progress for many months.

But not until Alexander made his report did it become fully obvious how alive the Labor government has become to the menace of another conflict and of its determination never again to be caught flatfooted. Throughout his long career as parliamentarian, internationalist and cabinet minister, Alexander has been a vigorous proponent of British strength.

Only the towering figure and expansive personality of Churchill eclipsed him during the war years. Fringing himself on his own naval tradition, Churchill took the fleet under his own wing when he was called as prime minister in 1940 and his blue greatcoat and peaked cap became almost a symbol of the navy itself.

Yet Churchill's duties as head of the cabinet and "guardian of empire" compelled him to leave all the real admiralty work in Alexander's hands.

He had gone into that post in 1940 well equipped for he served in a similar capacity from 1929 to 1931.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandels

Poetry is not exactly my ally. To be perfectly frank, I don't care a lot for poetry even if it is good.

But the following poem was sent to me because of a recent column of mine in which I told about some professors starting a seminar for monkeys.

No, the least I can do for Mrs. George Zell, of Kennett Square, Pa., who sent it to me, is to publish the poem, whose author I do not know.

If there is anything wrong with the meter you can easily have it fixed as all meters are fixed—by the plumb line or the power company's man. And that, I believe, and I shall know positively after my wife reads this column, is one of the most awful puns I have ever punned.

Here is the poem, and it is entitled "The Monkey's Disgrace". Three monkeys sat in a coconut tree.

Discussing things as they're said to be.

Said one to the other, "Now listen, you two;

"There's a certain rumor that can't be true;

"That man descended from our noble race is a disgrace.

"No monkey ever deserted his wife, 'Starved her babies and ruined her life;

"And you've never known a mother 'To leave her babies with others to bunk.

"Or pass them one from one to the other, 'Till they hardly know who is their mother.

"And another thing you'll never see: 'A monk built a fence 'round a coconut tree

"And let the coconuts go to waste, 'Forbidding all other monks to taste.

"So by putting a fence around my tree 'Starvation would force you to steal from me.

"Here's another thing no monkey would do: 'Go out at night and get on a stew.

"Or use a gun or club or knife 'To take some other monkey's life.

"Yes, man descended, the monkey cuss; 'But, brother, he didn't depend from us!"

Thus ended Mrs. Zell's poem and while, as I told you, the meter isn't very good, the philosophy certainly is.

However, she spoils it with the following P. S.:

"But who would rather be a monkey than a human being? I would not, and I am sure you wouldn't either."

Well, frankly, I don't know. According to my wife, I have made a monkey of myself many a time and, to be truthful, most of those times were the best times I ever had in my life.

So, I really can't say which is better—being a human being and making a monkey of yourself or being a monkey without having to make a human being of yourself.

I must ask the next monkey I meet.

EARLY OPENING FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL SUGGESTED

Attendance at Sunday school and church dwindles during the summer, especially in the towns and cities. Many Protestant churches are closed for a few weeks during summer.

We have a curious way of paralleling Sunday school and church vacation with school vacation. It is chiefly psychological, hardly logical.

Suggests Vacation

Curiously enough, we Protestants have in June a kind of graduating exercise for our children in Sunday school, known generally as "Children's Day". This exercise suggests that Sunday school vacation has begun, to last till September.

In the fall it takes several weeks for the family to get going again. Instead of starting off with a bang when the public schools open we wait a few weeks and have "Rally Day." Its purpose is to set going the Sunday school till next June. There is no good reason but human inertia that I can see, why children should not go back to Sunday school for regular attendance when the public schools open.

Some leaders of church schools might well consider having "Rally Day" earlier than usual. Parents who have deep concern about the religious education of their children don't need to wait for "Rally Day" to have their children begin regular attendance at Sunday school, provided they go with these children. It's not practical to send children to Sunday school. Having lived happily with their children, they should not find it very difficult to get these children to go along with them, and even stay for church—as one of the things the family all do together. This togetherness is a mighty force.

It may not be easy to keep the children over five or six for church. Fortunately if there is a well-directed activity program for them during the church services. Nor may the adolescent children be very eager to attend Sunday school or church. Yet if there is a good youth program at church and a fine family spirit of unity and cooperation, many of them can be induced to attend Sunday school or church or both.

Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT
(Copyright 1948, By The Baltimore Sun)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Just before she left for Paris, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, through her column, let the people of the country know who are the candidates in the coming election in whom "I have a special interest". Her idea is that all citizens concerned with good government should work and vote for these candidates.

NEEDLESS to say, they are all "liberals" and include such modest characters as Mr. Chester Bowles, who is running for governor of Connecticut and the inoffensive Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas, of California, who has been so highly publicized by the professional "bleeding heart" commentators on the air and in the press. It is notable that without exception all those approved by Mrs. Roosevelt more or less violently opposed Mr. Truman's nomination at Philadelphia, following along with her son James, for Dr. Eisenhower. Mr. Justice Douglas or practically anyone. In particular, however, Mrs. Roosevelt expressed her "special interest" in the election of Mayor Hubert Humphrey of Minneapolis, Democratic candidate for the Senate against Senator Ball. Him she praises most lavishly. He, she says, "might infuse new life into a Congress that certainly needs it."

IN this connection it is interesting to note that, before he gets to Congress—if he does—Mr. Humphrey already has done for the Democratic party, Mr. Truman and the country. The outstanding act of his career, for which he ought long to be remembered, occurred at the Democratic Convention in Philadelphia last July. It was Mr. Humphrey who, against the personal wishes of Mr. Truman and the advice of White House spokesmen, knocked out the Administration's "civil rights" platform plank which was similar to that in the 1944 platform, which was endorsed by Mr. Truman and which was, if not satisfactory, at least tolerable to the South. The substitute for which Mr. Humphrey led a successful fight went far beyond the generalities of the 1944 plank which the South, having swallowed once under Mr. Roosevelt, would have swallowed again. It specifically and in detail pledged the party to put through Congress the four points of Mr. Truman's "civil rights" program including the exceedingly offensive Federal Fair Employment Practices Act.

THE Administration forces, caught off base, were in no position effectively to fight this proposal. Aided by convention confusion and mismanagement, and by the leaders of the CIO and the A. D. A., all of whom had been against Mr. Truman, it was jammed into the platform from the floor. It is not easy to recall a more signal disservice to the party, or, for that matter, to the country. Naturally, the South immediately and violently howled. Some Southern delegates behind the convention without delay. Others bitterly denounced the Humphrey plank and organized to fight. In brief, the Southern revolt, which every clearheaded man knew was inevitable under such circumstances, was on. Stimulated by the Americans for Democratic Action, promoted by their CIO allies and precipitated by young Mr. Humphrey, a split developed more serious than any in Democratic history.

THE PLATFORM, as finally adopted, was interpreted—and rightly— as committing the party to carry out a "civil rights" program by force from the Federal Government if required which would alter the whole structure of social organization in the South. The State's Rights ticket headed by Governor Thurmond was an inevitable development. The result is that two months before the election Mr. Truman already has lost 45 electoral votes—more than he needs to win. Nothing short of a political miracle can now save the Democratic party from defeat—and political miracles are too rare to recall one.

BUT that is not all the damage inflicted by the Humphrey plank. A much worse result has followed than the defeat of Mr. Truman and the Democratic party would be. That plank forced the Southern revolt and the Southern revolt has worsened race relations in that section. It has presented an opportunity for the "white supremacy" demagogues of the Talmadge type and has weakened the efforts of many enlightened southerners who for years have been steadily striving to promote political justice for the Negroes—and have made real progress. No one can consider the great increase in Negro voting, the result of lynching, the rapidity with which the poll tax is disappearing and the advance in Negro education without conceding that in the past 50 years the South, on its own, has made remarkable progress in handling this race problem, so vastly more vital in that section than anywhere else.

NOR can it be denied that, with understanding and sympathetic aid from outside, the South would have continued to make progress. It has not had that kind of aid. On the contrary, it has been handicapped and hampered by cheap politicians in both parties who yapped about racial and political equality without in the least understanding what they were talking about. Certainly the attempt, for transparent political reasons, to force on the South by Federal law so-called "reforms" that strike at the very foundations of its social life does not promote progress. Quite the reverse—it abruptly halts it, creates an emotional state bad for the Negro, bad for the white man, bad for the country.

IT is not too much to say that the Humphrey plank, which is worse than futile, dealt a body blow to social relations not only in the South but in the nation. Thoughtful men of both races deplore it, are deeply disturbed by the situation. They do not know when nor how it can be resumed. Yet here is Mrs. Roosevelt lauding this bungling, bumptious young man, apparently without the remotest conception of racial realities, telling us that he, with his heavy responsibility for present dismal conditions, should be elected as he to "infuse life" into Congress. What he already has infused into the Democratic party is not life but something rather akin to death. However, Mrs. Roosevelt means well. She does. So do the most harm. They are the kind of people who do the most harm.

Washington Calling

(By Margie Childs)

Freedom May Be Impaired

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Americans who have become increasingly concerned with the rights of the individual and the preservation of basic American freedom must soon come forward with a plan to preserve those rights. If the present drift continues, the structure of American freedom may be seriously impaired.

Choosing this up was the forthright statement of Rep. F. Edward Herbert, of Louisiana, that the whole issue of loyalty and disloyalty had now become hopelessly tangled in partisan politics. That statement has needed saying by someone familiar with the controversy for a long time.

Herbert, who can never be accused of even New Dealism, has sat as a member of the house un-American activities committee. As he said in a radio interview, he had seen overwhelming evidence that the motivation of the committee was political. They were not so much interested in getting the facts as in making a case.

Politics In Charge

At the same time Herbert saw politics in President Truman's charge that the un-American hearings were merely a "red herring." This is the kind of offhand oversimplification of which the president frequently is guilty.

While the president made his "red herring" charge, which has not been taken up by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, his own loyalty boards were running a close race with the un-American committee.

Although not operating in the same headline-hunting atmosphere as the committee, the president's loyalty-testing system has appeared to be in competition with the Republican congress in running down individuals with even faintly irregular or heretical thoughts.

These individuals, it is true, are not subjected to the public and often sensational accusations that pour out of the J. Parnell Thomas propaganda mill. Herbert cited Dr. Edward U. Condon, head of the bureau of standards, as an example of one who had been publicly smeared and yet never given an opportunity to reply to vague charges of disloyalty.

May Be Damaging

It is possible, however, that the secret procedure of the loyalty boards may have an even more damaging effect. Unless the accused individual deliberately chooses to make his case public and expose his entire life and career to view, he has no appeal even to public opinion.

Nor is it any answer to say the number investigated and found disloyal is relatively small. If the future of one individual is unjustly destroyed, there is reason for deep concern. As Dewey said in his opening campaign address, our beliefs, put the highest value on each and every individual.

ANOTHER BUMPER CROP

The United States of America is not satisfied with the bumper crop of wheat and corn being harvested this year. Beside many other bumper crops that we are producing in 1948, there is a crop of at least six million new children for the public schools.

The youngsters have just come of age, and with the closing of vacation and the first of September rolling around again, there is an increase of six million children in the first grade, which means plenty of work for the teachers, for the parents and for the directors of our schools, to say nothing of the additional money needed for the purpose of outfitting the youngsters. And how these kids can walk through shoes and clothes!

Like many another old standard joke, that one about children "hating" school enough to enjoy burning the schoolhouse is outmoded. For the plain truth is that most children nowadays are happy at school and welcome the ringing of the September bell.

THE BARBER FROM BAD AXE I've been told that whenever he has a day off.

The barber from Bad Axe goes out to play golf;

And whenever I'd challenged him, true to his trade, His skill with the clippers he proudly displayed.

So the tables I turned, and I asked if he In a four-man management my partner would be.

He put down his scissors and dangled his comb, Saying: "Rather than that I'd prefer to stay home.

But if that's how you want it, since business is slack, Though a load you will be, just get up on my back.

And I'll carry you round till the struggle is done."

Which he did, and because of his playing, we won!

I peeked and my putts were both weird and absurd, But the barber from Bad Axe said never a word.

He drove like a pro and his irons were true; He was two over par when the scoring was through.

And I hope when those comrades again challenge me, That the Barber from Bad Axe my partner will be.

STUMP WATER

When granddaddy was a boy he new that stump water would cure warts.

Sometimes when a tree was cut down there would be a hole or cavity in the stump.

Rain water would collect in the hole and it was called stump water. Granddaddy did not know that warts were contagious. He knew what caused them and how to cure them just the same.

A wart should be treated as soon as possible. It may cause a large crop of warts in other people.

Warts are usually harmless but sometimes they cause a lot of trouble.

a frost is necessary, since weather conditions vary. Whenever a frost is expected, stored, mature green tomatoes, free from injury, may be pulled and stored in single rows, in cool, natural conditions. Often, a cellar where there is ample moisture and no heat is ideal for storing tomatoes for as long as a month.

Ripening of stored tomatoes can be hurried by placing them in a warmer temperature. Experiments show that tomatoes ripen best at 65 to 70 degrees, or room temperatures. If temperatures go above 80 degrees, such as in the hot sunshine, tomatoes have a tendency to ripen yellow instead of the normal red.

Peppers may be stored in shallow baskets. Eggplants, picked for size, also can mature in storage and be used as they ripen. When an anticipated frost fails to appear, mature crops have been stored several weeks often pass before frost comes. In such cases, more crops will be ready for similar storage, and greater use can be made of garden crops by repeating the process.

Eggplants are classified by the census bureau as Indians.

BAPTIST WOMEN FETE FORMER MEMBERS

In the dining room of the First Baptist church, the United Workers Bible class and Section One of the church school, abided for a joint luncheon dinner at noon, Thursday. The occasion was in honor of Mrs. Frank Kelly, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. D. C. McClelland, of Redlands, Calif., former members of Section One, who are now visiting in the city. There were 23 present. Mrs. Ralph May gave the invocation.

Reminiscing was the diversion of the afternoon. Mrs. McClelland gave a resume of the splendid work being done by the missionary society of the Redlands church. Mrs. Kelly said she was glad to be with the group again, and joined with Mrs. McClelland in appreciation for the hospitality shown them.

they should not enjoy school days. We give them about everything they need or want—along with the chance to lay a solid educational foundation. And may this foundation be a real foundation. Teach them reading, writing and arithmetic; teach them love of country. Teach them that they live in a country that is worthy of all the devotion they can give to it; a country that will give them the greatest opportunity for success in any life work they undertake and that the more they apply themselves to the advantages of the education offered them now in the public schools, the greater the return.

Welcome to the six million newcomers to the schools. May they get the full benefit of American opportunity and make even better citizens than their forbears.

Air Force Combat
Planes Increases

'First Line' Planes Ready For Combat Jump 25 Per Cent
Since First Of Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(INS)—The Air Force reported today that the number of "first line" combat planes primed for immediate action has jumped 25 per cent since the first of the year.

The Air Force said that about 5,000 new modern planes were in an active status July 1, compared to only 4,000 on Jan. 1.

"First line" planes are the newest jet planes or late-model conventional-engine aircraft on which the Air Force would rely mainly in event of an attack.

The Air Force also has 8,000 "second line" and utility planes ready—500 more than at the year's beginning. "Second line" planes are the not-so-new combat crafts that have been held over from the war.

At the same time, the Air Force revealed that it has reduced the number of all-type planes in storage from 12,000 on Jan. 1 to 10,000 on July 1. Similarly, the number of all-type planes in an active status has jumped from 11,500 on Jan. 1 to 13,000 on July 1.

The largest storage withdrawals have been of "first line" planes.

Discount Rumors
On How To Get
Seeing Eye Dog

Rumors which have been circulated around that Seeing Eye dogs may be obtained through the collection of match folder covers or through saving of red cellophane strips from packs of cigarettes have been branded false in a letter received by G. L. Muir of 512 North Mercer street, from the vice president of the Seeing Eye Corporation in New Jersey.

According to W. H. Ebeling, vice president of the organization where the dogs are trained, the rumor has no foundation and such collections result only in disappointment to blind people and their friends who save the articles. The official stated that any blind person between the ages of 16 and 55 who wants a Seeing Eye dog should communicate directly with the Seeing Eye, Morristown, N. J. His eligibility will be established immediately.

WORRY never solved a problem

P.S. ONE WORRY YOU DON'T HAVE TO COPE WITH IS THE COST OF WATER—WHEN A MERE NICKEL PAYS FOR THE AVERAGE FAMILY'S WHOLE DAILY SUPPLY.

Getting yourself tied up in knots only makes the problem worse, the solution harder to find.

The next time you find yourself "worrying" a problem, try the relaxed approach:

Get into a hot shower or tub bath. Let yourself relax thoroughly. Then cool the water off quickly and give yourself a vigorous rub-down.

After this treatment you're pretty sure to be in a much better frame of mind to tackle that weighty problem. In fact, it won't seem half so serious!

STEAL AWNING
 People with a penchant for appropriating articles which belong to someone else have queer ideas as to what they should steal. For instance last night someone stole a 15-foot awning from the home of George Janovick, 1809 Moravia Street, according to a report to city police.

East Brook Class Has Harvest Ball

Festivities Take Place At East Brook High School With Miss Barbara Mayberry Queen

Junior class of East Brook high school sponsored their annual harvest ball on Thursday evening with Barbara Mayberry reigning as queen of the ball.

The Queen's court consisted of Elizabeth Flickinger, Goldie Sickafuse, Dorothy McConaghy, Donna Henderson.

William Pontius, junior class president, placed the floral crown on the head of Joan McKee, last year's queen. As the procession of the queen and her court reached the center of the floor, Joan descended the throne, and as Miss Mayberry knelt, she crowned her queen of the harvest. Last year's queen took the new queen by the hand and led her to the throne. After seating her, Miss McKee stepped aside after which the court took its place.

The queen of the harvest was presented with a beautiful corsage of roses and a three strand string of pearls by William Pontius. Miss McKee also received a lovely corsage.

Dancing was enjoyed by the large crowd with door prizes and a cake adding to the evening fun.

Local Boys Going To Navy Air School

Word has been received by the families of James Gay and John L. Brindle, of this city, who returned to Great Lakes Naval Training Station, last Tuesday, that they are being transferred to the Navy Aeronautical School at Memphis, Tenn.

Garland Will Not Answer His Phone Tonight

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 25.—(INS)—Don't forget to turn your clocks back Sunday morning—but please, please don't telephone Robert Garland.

Garland as president of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce during World War I adopted the idea of Daylight Time from England and put it into effect with the approval of President Woodrow Wilson.

As the father of Daylight Time in America, Garland, who still resides in Pittsburgh, receives numerous phone calls from what he describes as "cranks, frustrated pranksters and soreheads."

The situation has gotten so bad, that Garland refuses to answer his phone on the two nights a year the clocks are changed. Many is the time in the past he's been awakened at 4 a. m. to hear a voice shouting in his ear:

"Howya like getting up at this hour?"

Garland, who will be 86 years old on Monday, is also the recipient of many suggestions from "idea men." One fellow wanted to set the thermometer ahead 40 degrees in the winter.

Holdup Thugs Pick Wrong Man

Two thugs who attempted at 12:25 a. m. today to hold-up Walter Reedy, of Neshannock avenue, picked upon the wrong man who put up a fight and put them to flight.

They approached Reedy in South Street, at the South Mill street bridge.

The thugs seized Reedy who struck and knocked one down, while they tore his pockets in search of money.

Reedy then walloped the second thug.

Both fled.

He described them as about 23 years of age, one of whom had bushy hair.

Reveal Plan To Change Army Dress Uniforms Changed By Cold War

By JOHN DRUCKENBROD
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Top military officials revealed today that the "cold war" has caused the army to junk several planned changes in dress uniforms and concentrate on improving combat gear.

The officials disclosed that the army high command had a snappy dress blue uniform and a redesigned coat ready to introduce before international tension began to mount.

One army clothing expert told a reporter:

"Until relations with Russia became strained, we planned to introduce a streamlined version of the uniform coat which was replaced by the Eisenhower jacket during the war."

"There was also a dress blue uniform, costing about $125 and with a loud, colorful lining for the overcoat, in the offing."

Changed Minds

The official said that Army Secretary Royall and Chief of Staff Gen. Omar N. Bradley changed their minds when the international scene became clouded.

He represented the military leaders as believing that the cost of the clothing innovations would be "unwise" in view of other high military expenditures.

Nevertheless, the army believes that the thousands of draftees who enter service in the next few months will be better dressed than any military men in history.

The most significant improvements are the use of better cloth and an army-wide program to guarantee the soldier a better tailoring job.

In addition, there is a strong chance that the army will discard the cumbersome seven-pound wool overcoat for something lighter and more protective.

Promises Relief

For the serviceman who is forever coming out at the seams, the army promises welcome relief in the development of plastic cements. Definite progress has been reported in the experimental use of plastic cements as a substitute for sewn seams on many items.

Around Hollywood

By RUTH BRIGHAM
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 25.—(INS)—Last year there were so few good movies made in Hollywood no one had the heart to name the ten best.

This year will be a different story. Hollywood has gone to work and is turning out some fairly good stuff. At least, some of it is entertainment—which is more than could be said in the immediate past.

The top ten, so far, are "Treasure of Sierra Madre," "The Big Clock," "The Search," "Sorry, Wrong Number," "A Foreign Affair," "Hamlet," "Sitting Pretty," "The Street with No Name," "Naked City" and "I Remember Mama."

WANT DAUGHTER

The James Masons want a daughter and plan to name her for Fred Allen's better half, Portland Gloria De Haven is playing the gay young divorcee with glee, but she and John Payne made a better looking couple than she and her comedian... Virginia Grey has thrown away that torch she carried for Clark Gable... George Raft and his latest girl, Marie Windsor, do the rhumba as they do it in Cuba—but not at the country club.

MGM plans to try to keep Lana Turner alive by announcing various first-return-to-the-screen pictures from time to time... Actually, the studio is pretty unhappy about her expected baby, one executive remarking, "That's just like keeping a million dollars around for a year and getting no interest on it..." The Xavier Cugat have kissed and made up, danced cheek to cheek at Le Papillon opening, and the madame didn't even raise an eyebrow when they bumped into Lina Romay.

The Herbert Marshalls apparently are one of Hollywood's happiest couples... Joan Caulfield is lending a helping hand to her pretty sister Ruth... They're a De Havilland-Fontaine sister act in reverse.

Medical Journal Labels Plan Of Truman As 'Folly'

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—(INS)—The Journal of the American Medical Association labeled today as a "folly" the Truman Administration's plan for compulsory sickness insurance.

The AMA publication launched in its current issue a bitter editorial attack against the proposal made by Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing.

The Journal declared that if the plan were accepted Mr. Truman and Ewing "would likely discover that the prescription has little curative values..."

The editorial was the AMA's first reply to the public health proposals.

The Journal asserted:

"The amount of medical care given to most people of the United States under their compulsory sickness insurance plans would never satisfy the people of the United States."

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

VISIT of Georges Carpentier of France, former light-heavyweight champ, and who as a contender for Jack Dempsey's heavyweight crown, was knocked out by the Manassa Mauler 37 years ago at Boyles Acres, Jersey City, recalls an imaginative and excitable Francois Descamps, manager of Carpentier, who, in his heyday was known as Gorgeous Georges. Descamps passed away some years ago, but old-timers still recall him.

Francois accompanied Georges to this country, and had Carpentier train behind "locked doors". He was accredited with having claimed Carpentier had mesmeristic power, but the claim was merely a page out of the strategy book of Emil Thier, manager of Paaky McFarland, both of whom have been dead for years. How Francois felt heir to the story that Carpentier could hypnotize an opponent isn't known, but he was not the originator. A local fighter, Battling Terry, former lightweight, was the victim of the hoax, but later turned the hoax to his own advantage.

Jimmie Dime took Terry to box McFarland at Dayton. There they met Emil Thier, pilot of Paaky. During a discussion, Emil turned to Terry and remarked:

"But, if I were you, I wouldn't look Paaky in the eye tonight. He's a hypnotist and if he catches your eye, the fight will be over."

Whether or not Terry fell for the yarn isn't known, but it is a fact that Paaky won over Terry in the fifth round.

Upon his return Terry told the story and determined to be a copy-cat.

Terry was photographed with eyes glaring. The pictures were mailed to hundreds of newspapers. Some sportswriters not only published the yarn, but also the photograph. One was the late Walter Kelly of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Frank Menke, then a leased wire editor syndicated a story about Terry's "hypnotic" eyes.

Some months later Terry was matched to box Teddy O'Hara at Johnstown and in a round-about-way, the yarn was told to Teddy. In other words, he was told:

"Don't look Terry in the eye. He'll hypnotize you."

When O'Hara came out fighting, his head was turned sideways, and it wasn't long until Teddy was on the floor, knocked out.

It was after this that Descamps was accredited with the claim that Carpentier had hypnotic powers, something Jack Dempsey disapproved at Boyles Acres, Jersey City.

However, Carpentier had a good record. He was born in 1884, and began boxing when 14. He won the European championship of every class from bantamweight to heavyweight.

He held one world's title, that of light-heavyweight. He won the title from Battling Levinsky, who boxed Emmett Rocco in the Jolly bowl, in four rounds in New York, October 12, 1920. It was a warm-up fight for his joust with the Manassa Mauler, which as stated, Georges lost.

Heads Campaign To Stop Dogs Attacking Uncle Sam's Mailmen

By JIM CONCORAN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—An intensive study is underway in Chicago today in an effort to keep the nation's mail carriers from going to the dogs.

Acting Postmaster John Haderlein of Chicago is heading the campaign to stop dogs from feeding on Uncle Sam's mailmen.

He reported ruefully: "In the last 12 months 650 postmen have been attacked by Chicago canines."

"Think what they are doing all over the country."

Just picture this instant all the mail carriers from Podunk to Big Town who are being chased or bitten.

"Look at the man hours you lose."

To combat the repetitious "dog-bites-mailman" reports, Haderlein opened an all-out effort through education of the carrier and demonstrations to owners of vicious dogs.

Haderlein has distributed posters warning against vicious dogs, pamphlets telling the carriers how to handle such pooches and what to do when you can't get the mail through.

The acting postmaster also posts the latest dog vs. Mailman results such as:

"Attention: 123 carriers were bitten by dogs in the first eight months of this year. Five carriers bitten by stray dogs the other day had to take 14 anti-rabies shots."

When the story is good, Haderlein's bulletins exult:

"There have been no casualties in the last three days."

Among the posters which were distributed to the mail substations was one which included this sage advice:

"Never pet dogs."

"If a dog obstructs entry to a house, speak roughly and continue deliveries."

"The best strategy when in imminent danger is to face the dog and stand still or retreat slowly—never turn your back and run."

Unhappy Landing
